Q.2 A) Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below it. 10

Man's earliest inventions we know very little. The first may have been the use of a stone to crack a nut. The next was possibly the use of a stick to strike an enemy. Once man found that sticks and stones were useful, it was only a step further to the making of a crude weapon by fastening a stone to the end of a stick.

Man used sticks and stones long before he dared to meddle with fire, for the early men like all wild creatures dreaded the fire. Fire of course existed, for lightning must sometimes have set the forests ablaze just as it does today, and in those days volcanoes were much more active than they are now.

Questions:

- 1) What was the man's earliest invention?
- 2) What was the man's next invention?

It is clear that language is used for more than one purpose. The man who hits his thumb with a hammer and utters a string of curse is using language to relieve his feeling and needs no audience but himself. But when the philosopher uses language to clarify his ideas on a subject, he is using it as an instrument of thought. When two women gossip over the fence, or two men exchange greetings as they pass in the street, language is being used to strengthen the bonds between the members of a society.

Language it seems, is a multipurpose instrument. One function, however, seems to be basic: language enables us to influence people's behaviour and thereby makes human co-operation possible. Some animals co-operate especially the social animals like bees and ants, but human co-operation is more thorough, more detailed, more effective than that found anywhere in the animal kingdom. This human co-operation would be unthinkable without language.

Questions:

- 1) Why is language called a multipurpose instrument?
- 2) What are the purpose for which language is used?
- 3) What is the basic function of language?
- 4) How is human co-operation different from co-operation among bees and ants?
- 5) How does a philosopher use language?

- 1) Right to information.
- 2) Lok Adalat
- 3) Principles of natural justice.

B) Translate the following passage into marathi. 07

Habits are easily formed especially bad ones, such as over-eating, drinking and smoking one formed they are difficult to be got rid of. Idleness and over-work are also matters of habit. Bad habits must be fought against. They should not be allowed to be formed, one should try to give them up at all cost.

Drinking is universal in cold countries, under the false notion that is a necessity millions of people have begun to do on trichy without it, with great advantage to their health and wealth.
